From the 1st of February 2019 the Queensland state government has introduced changes to the General Safety Induction course - White Card.

The changes are:

- You are no longer able to get a White Card online unless you live more than 100km from a registered training provider offering face-to-face delivery.
- An exemption allowing online delivery is available where the student is located at least 100 kilometres away from the nearest RTO offering the course by face to face delivery.
